MAKING AUTHENTIC FOOD ACCESSIBLE, ANYTIME

Celebrate the flavours that define a city. Share authentic regional delicacies with friends, family, and colleagues, creating meaningful experiences and lasting memories through food and culture.

Our dedicated food vending machines bring curated dishes from renowned restaurants directly to corporate offices, townships, and universities—giving people instant access to authentic flavours without ordering online or waiting for delivery. Great food closer to where you live, work or study.

WHY US

Corporate Vending Machines

We bring curated restaurant meals directly to workplaces through smart vending machines, giving employees convenient access to quality food without waiting for online orders or delivery.

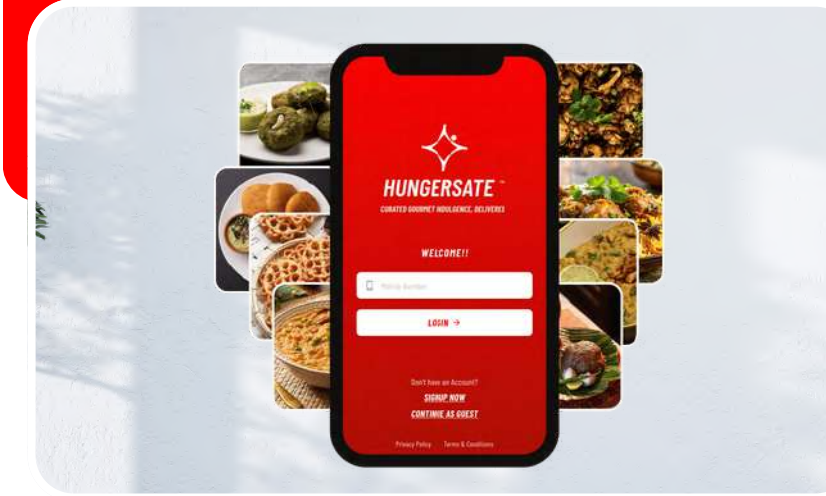

Events | Bulk Orders

We make events more memorable with bulk restaurant orders and intercity food delivery, bringing celebrated dishes from renowned restaurants to gatherings of every kind.

Gated Communities | Universities

Our vending machines bring a curated selection of restaurant dishes right into gated communities and universities, giving residents and students instant access to regional favourites whenever they want them.

Intercity Food Delivery

We bring authentic restaurant food from one city to another through temperature-controlled logistics, helping people enjoy the flavours they love, wherever they are.

MIGRATION STORY

“ Considering current migration rate of 10.8% $\approx$ 15.8 crore in urban areas is a large audience longing for home food.”

OUR VISION

To build a category-defining food platform that connects consumers to authentic regional cuisines through curated experiences, strong supply chains, and seamless delivery, celebrating India's culinary diversity with care and consistency.

OUR MISSION

Hungersate's mission is to create a new food category by building deep, cuisine-led supply chains that deliver authentic regional experiences at scale. We partner with trusted local culinary ecosystems to ensure consistency, quality, and cultural authenticity in every meal. By owning sourcing and execution across homes, corporates, events, and everyday consumption, we aim to make authentic Indian food a reliable, high-frequency choice while fostering long-term customer trust.

WORKPLACE FOOD CHALLENGES

Workplace Dining Isn't Just About Lunch

Modern offices need food solutions that support employees throughout the day, not just during lunch hours.

EMPLOYEE CHALLENGES

- Time spent browsing multiple delivery apps
- Long waits during peak lunch hours
- Limited healthy and premium food options
- Late-night shift employees have fewer choices
- Cravings for hometown food often go unmet

WORKPLACE CHALLENGES

- Productivity lost during long meal breaks
- Delivery congestion at office entrances
- Dependence on multiple delivery platforms
- Limited food access across different shifts
- Difficulties coordinating meals for larger teams

A smarter workplace deserves a smarter food ecosystem.

HUNGERSATE

SMART CORPORATE
FOOD VENDING MACHINES

Hungersate's opportunity extends beyond offices and corporate campuses.

Millions of people who travel, wait and spend several hours away from home every day — often in places where getting a good, convenient meal is surprisingly difficult.

Our automated, temperature-controlled food stations are addressing this gap across Railway stations, Examination centres and other high-footfall locations.

Railway Stations — A 24/7 Food availability Opportunity

Railway stations are active 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Passengers arrive anytime of the day in a rush, catch trains and often reach stations early or at the last moment. Yet food choices are not always convenient, particularly for passengers who are short on time or looking for familiar regional food.

We at Hungersate have tied up with Secunderabad Railways (South Central Railways) for installing our vending machines and offer warm/ fresh curated meals, biryanis, snacks, bakery products and regional specialties directly where passengers need them — through automated, temperature-controlled Gourmet Stations.

The proposition: quality good food, available when the passenger needs it, without having to search for a restaurant.

Examination Centres — An Opportunity Around the Waiting Time

Examination centres create a very different, but equally interesting, opportunity.

Students spend 4–6 hours at an examination centres, while parents or family members wait outside. During this period, they often have limited food options within walking distance.

Hungersate Gourmet Stations are not just a food or meal Vending Machine but a complete Food Access Network for fresh and reliable food for anytime of the day.

Examination Centres — Three potential consumption windows

Before the exam

Students and parents arrive early. They may want breakfast or something light before the examination begins.

During the exam

While students are inside writing the exam, parents can be waiting outside for several hours — creating a natural opportunity for meals and refreshments.

After the exam

When the exam finishes, students and parents leave together, creating another concentrated demand window.

With many examinations taking place during daytime hours and 365 days, often around 10 AM to 3 PM, a strategically placed Hungersate Gourmet Station can serve this entire cycle.

Our focus is at locations where there is predictable footfall, waiting time and limited access to quality food, that's our potential distribution points.

Railway stations.

Examination centres.

Corporate campuses.

Educational institutions.

Hospitals.

Transportation hubs.

Events and convention centres.

By combining temperature-controlled technology, curated food from trusted food partners and a scalable distribution network, We at Hungersate will bring quality food closer to people and especially at the moments when they need it most.

- Hungersate: Expanding into High-Value, Large-Format Food Occasions
Market Opportunity: Growing demand across India for authentic regional cuisine at weddings, corporate events, festivals, and private celebrations.
- Challenges: Current intercity food event catering is fragmented, with inconsistent quality, limited vendor access, and low trust.
- Our Solution: Hungersate leverages its core strengths in regional authenticity, intercity logistics, and supply-chain control to offer a scalable, reliable platform for premium bulk food delivery.
- Unique Value: Enables seamless access to authentic food from source regions for high-stakes occasions—be it a Punjabi wedding in Bengaluru, a Hyderabad corporate event in Mumbai, or a Bengali festival in Delhi.
- Impact: Positions Hungersate at the heart of celebrations where food drives community, culture, and corporate experiences, unlocking a high-growth segment beyond everyday consumption.
